

LANSDOWNE SCHOOL NEWSLETTER

This week we feature the visit of a guest artist Osmand Rashid who came to work with our students and explain his work. There are also images from last week's trips to Battersea Power Station to see the redevelopment of that area around one of London's most iconic landmarks. The Enterprise Café opened again this week and photos and information about this will be included in next week's newsletter.

Geography Trips

During this Geography term, the Year 8 students got the chance to explore different London boroughs using public transport. They were very enthusiastic about getting on the tube and visiting areas such as the London Eye, Big Ben, and the newly revamped Battersea Power Station. We studied physical and human features of the areas, such as the bridges that cross over River Thames and connect different boroughs and the modernised area around the Battersea Power Station. We discussed the impact of the new shopping mall in the local area and everyone agreed that it would be helpful for the neighbourhood.

Stay tuned for our next trip!

Osmand Rashid: Artist Visit to Lansdowne

I felt like it was very inspiring to see how he was held back by his learning disability but that he still perceived to achieve a lot, this is relatable to me. Also, it was cool to see how his artwork has developed. By Yoel

It feels good to sit down to understand Osmand's work at college and he does lots of stimulating, inspirational and productive artworks. Even though his work was made of recycled materials and food including the sweets work made my mouth water and also his learning disability was an inspiration to his life in college. By Samera

Osmand's work makes me feel calm and giggly. His artwork is so hilarious and he has a great sense of humour with and without art, he worked hard to graduate in college. I feel so impressed. By Jasmine

I feel great about my experience with Osmand Rashid because he was active in his artwork and told us about his artwork and life experience related to art. By Yusuf

I feel great talking and Ozzy sharing his experience with me because you can learn and relate to his life and take it onboard. I hope one day we can visit him again and have another chat. When he spoke about his struggles about how he got to the top, it put a deep emotion inside me because it showed me he basically came from nowhere going to uni for 4 years and achieving his degree. Doing all the artwork you can think of that he has done. By Djibril

Ozzy's visit inspired me because he made really unique art such as the apple with dye on, the coca cola cans and the pigeon poop flower. He was very encouraging as he showed how he built his artwork up to become magical. By Didier

My experience with Ozzy was very incredible and a moment I'll always cherish with me my whole life. When he talks about his journey to become an artist and his background, it really moved me with emotion and also motivated me to succeed for my future. Meeting him, including seeing all his artwork he has done meant a lot to me as he's such a nice person with such encouragement and I really want to learn from him and become successful just like him as his artworks made me want to improve mine. By Rahim

The experience finally meeting Ozzy was inspirational. From a very young age he had an ambition to drive through his artwork. He is a humble man from my perspective and his projects were interesting as I'm not the biggest fan in art. We felt included because he also had a condition which some of us can relate to-dyslexia. Hopefully he continues his journey and overcomes the hurdles ahead. By Kaylon
