This week we are looking forward to a virtual careers workshop for our Year 11 pupils. This will happen on Friday and will involve a CV workshop and virtual discussions with employers. We are grateful to Spark! – the charity we work with to provide meaningful careers opportunities and our Careers lead, Mr Anatoliotis, who liaises with them.

We are also celebrating the wonderful Art work created by our students in response to Armistice Day.

what we learned this week

In Textiles lessons this week, we have been making poppy badges. We made them to celebrate Remembrance Day on the 11th November. Students assembled the felt shapes before sewing them together and then sewing on a safety pin. Everyone was very proud of their work and excited to wear their poppies on their uniforms.

what we learned this week

Art

Students in years 12 and 13 have worked on sewing techniques with wool threads, using unrecyclable disposables of mesh plastic packaging from supermarkets, (usually used for onions, garlic, citrus). By using these materials, students address the importance of using mediums in their work which would otherwise end up in the bin and add to landfill waste.

These works are displayed outside our classroom.

Year 11 student Jasmine has created a collage mixed-media portrait of Doreen Lawrence OBE, inspired by Chris Ofili's work and in response to her topic of Identity. Jasmine used tissue paper to create braids for the hair and used cotton buds to make dot prints for the background.

Year 12 student Joddy has created an imaginary bird which is a combination of two other real birds, as response to his topic of Coastline. Joddy has used watercolour techniques and washable ink pens.
