

LANSDOWNE SCHOOL NEWSLETTER

This week features Forest School's snowy weather adventures from last term. New groups have started Forest School and have been very excited to participate. Our college link groups continue and we have some images from Roots & Shoots, the Tuesday session.

Class of the Week

Congratulations!

At Roots & Shoots this week 12CR focused on employability in looking for a job and 'What is a hazard and what risk it could cause?'.

12CR had to identify hazards in familiar settings such as in a household (kitchen). They listened and answered questions on hazards and risks.

Finally, 12CR had to find hazards that could cause a risk to themselves whilst exploring the Roots & Shoots garden.

Mr Palmer

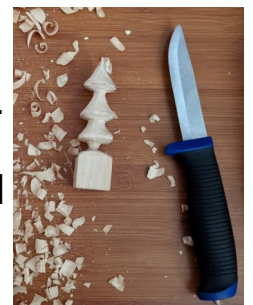

Forest school has begun again and we are excited to be introducing our new groups to everything the forest has to offer.

Here are a selection of photos from last term's final few sessions, where we were lucky enough to enjoy the snowy weather at our lovely site in Dulwich. After having a snowball fight and trying to build snowmen, we warmed ourselves up with a campfire BBQ - vegetarian sausages and burgers... delicious!

We also 'whittled' some festive trees out of wood - and look who came to investigate what we were up to! An inquisitive fox!
